We have accomplished much in our two short years of existence. A brief chronology follows:

December 6, 1992 - "A Holiday Concert" with guest soloist Joe Steffan drew a full house. Joe is the author of "Honor Bound" about his trial with the Navy after being dismissed from West Point six weeks before graduation for admitting to being gay.

June 4, 5, 1993 - "One World, Many Voices". Concert theme being that Each of us is different, yet the same.

November 6, 1993 - We were invited to participate in a Gospel Fest at Aenon Baptist Church and and though our music was considerably different, we were very warmly received.

November 6, 1993 - (invited) "Singing for our Lives", an AIDS Benefit sponsored by Open Arms Metropolitan Community Church. Also featured were the Rochester Gay Men's Chorus, Rochester Women's Chorus and soloists.

November 20, 1993 - (invited) annual United Nations Festival at First Unitarian Church

December 1, 1993 - (invited) World AIDS Day Services at the U of R Interfaith Chapel

December 3, 4, 1993 - "Light in the Darkness" (concert) There is hope for freedom, peace and unity. First Annual Freedom Award to Ramona Santorelli for unselfish work in the fight for freedom for all.

March 6, 1994 - (invited) performed "Requiem - Opus 48" by Gabriel Faure, with the Brighton Symphony Orchestra at First Unitarian Church
